Nevertheless, although we did not present data on the regeneration potential of all the grafting materials tested, we anticipate that the methodology presented here will be useful for future studies. Future studies will investigate the long-term efficacy of these grafting materials, as well as the effect of laser treatment on the regeneration of these materials in vivo. Conclusions {#sec1-5} =========== Within the limitations of this study, the following conclusions were drawn:

Within the limitations of this in vivo study, at the 6th week, the laser treatment enhanced the healing response of dentin and cementum in the treatment site in comparison with the other groups.Laser treatment on irradiated porcine femurs showed better results in terms of bone regeneration in comparison to non-irradiated femurs at 4 and 6 weeks after the grafting procedure.Laser treatment of the irradiated femurs 77a5ca646e
